Year 1 – Expected (Most of the time)
Text Type
Date
I can write sentences in order to create short narrative and non-fiction text
I can use some features of different text types but these may not be consistent
I can reread my writing to check that it makes sense and make suggested changes
I can use adjectives to describe
I can use simple sentence structures
I can use the joining word (conjunction) 'and' to link ideas and sentences
I have an awareness of capital letters for names
I have an awareness of capital letters for places
I have an awareness of capital letters for days of the week
I have an awareness of capital letters for the personal pronoun I
I can use finger spaces
I can use full stops to end sentences
I can use question marks
I can use exclamation marks
I can spell most words containing previously taught phonemes and GPC's accurately
I can spell most Y1 common exception words accurately
I can use s and es to form regular plurals correctly
I can use the prefix un
I can add the suffixes -ing – ed -er -est to root words
I can write lower case and capital letters in the correct direction, starting and finishing in the right place with good level of consistency
Year 1 – Greater Depth (Consistently doing all of the above and the objectives below)
I can reread my writing to check that I makes sense and independently make changes.
I can use ambitious adjectives to describe
I can spell simple compound words									